

Why
March in front of our Parliament?

"Building a society based on human dignity can only be achieved when those in authority espouse the principles of right governance and honesty in their personal and public lives and offer unconditional service to their fellow citizens for the common good. Public servants, therefore, have an especially grave obligation to ensure that they are role models of moral behavior and do their best to help others form a correct conscience which at all times shuns any type of graft or corruption. "

(text of the address of John Paul II to Leonida Vera, the new ambassador of the Philippines to the Holy See—April 19, 2004).
